

Privacy Policy

Effective Date: January 1, 2025

Zeath Law respects your privacy. We collect personal information, such as your name, email address, and phone number, to provide legal services and respond to your inquiries.

SMS Messaging:

By providing your mobile number and opting in, you consent to receive SMS messages from Zeath Law. Message frequency may vary. Standard message and data rates may apply. You can reply 'STOP' to unsubscribe or 'HELP' for assistance. Your information will never be shared with third parties for marketing.

We use appropriate safeguards to protect your personal information and only retain it as required by law or for service purposes.

We may update this policy from time to time. The latest version will always be available on our website.

Zeath Law (“the Firm,” “we,” “us,” or “our”) is committed to maintaining the confidentiality, integrity, and security of personal information entrusted to us by our clients, prospective clients, and website users. This Privacy Policy sets forth our practices regarding the collection, use, disclosure, and protection of personal information, including through Short Message Service (SMS) communications.

1. Collection and Use of Personal Information

Zeath Law may collect personal information, including but not limited to names, telephone numbers, email addresses, and other contact details, through various means including, but not limited to, website inquiries, client intake forms, and SMS messaging services. This information is collected for the purpose of providing legal services, facilitating communication, and maintaining business operations in accordance with applicable laws and professional obligations.

2. SMS Messaging Consent and Disclosures

By voluntarily providing your mobile telephone number to Zeath Law and opting to receive SMS messages, you expressly consent to receive text communications from the Firm for purposes including, but not limited to, legal service updates, appointment reminders, and informational notices.

The following terms shall apply to all SMS messaging services provided by Zeath Law:

- Consent to Receive Messages: By opting in, you acknowledge and agree to receive SMS messages from Zeath Law at the mobile number provided.
- Use of Personal Information: Personal information, including your mobile number, shall be retained in strict confidence and shall not be disclosed, sold, or transferred to any third parties for marketing or promotional purposes.
- Message Frequency: The frequency of SMS messages may vary based on the nature of your engagement with Zeath Law. Message volume typically ranges from 2 to 4 messages per month, with additional messages sent as necessary for case-related communications or time-sensitive updates.
- Opt-Out Instructions: You may discontinue receipt of SMS messages at any time by replying STOP to any SMS message received from Zeath Law. Upon receipt of your opt-out request, we shall make commercially reasonable efforts to remove your mobile number from our SMS contact list promptly.
- Help and Support: For assistance regarding SMS messaging services, reply HELP to any SMS message received, or contact us directly at [insert contact email and telephone number].
- Message and Data Rates: Standard message and data rates may apply in accordance with your wireless service plan. Zeath Law shall not be responsible for any such charges incurred.

3. Protection of Personal Information

Zeath Law employs administrative, technical, and physical safeguards appropriate to the sensitivity of the information in its custody to protect personal information against unauthorized access, disclosure, alteration, or destruction.

4. Amendments to this Privacy Policy

Zeath Law reserves the right to amend this Privacy Policy from time to time to reflect changes in legal or regulatory obligations, our business practices, or the features of our services. Any such modifications shall become effective upon posting of the revised policy on our website.

5. Contact Information

Terms of Use

Effective Date: January 1, 2025

Welcome to the website of Zeath Law (“the Firm,” “we,” “us,” or “our”). By accessing, browsing, or using this website, you acknowledge that you have read, understood, and agree to be bound by these Terms of Use, and to comply with all applicable laws and regulations. If you do not agree to these Terms, you are not authorized to use this website.

1. No Legal Advice

The materials and information contained on this website are provided for general informational purposes only and do not constitute legal advice or opinion of any kind. Your use of this website or any communication with Zeath Law through this site does not establish a solicitor-client relationship. You should not act, or refrain from acting, based solely upon information provided on this website without seeking appropriate legal or other professional advice specific to your situation.

2. SMS Messaging Services

By voluntarily providing your mobile number and opting in to receive SMS communications from Zeath Law, you expressly consent to receive such messages in accordance with our Privacy Policy and applicable laws. Message frequency may vary. You may opt-out at any time by replying STOP to any message, and standard message and data rates may apply.

Zeath Law disclaims any liability for message delays or undelivered messages due to network issues, technical problems, or circumstances beyond our control.

3. Intellectual Property

All content, text, graphics, images, logos, and other materials available on this website are the property of Zeath Law or its licensors and are protected by applicable copyright, trademark, and other intellectual property laws. Unauthorized use, reproduction, modification, distribution, or republication of any part of this website without prior written consent from Zeath Law is strictly prohibited.

4. Disclaimer of Warranties

This website and all content, materials, and services provided herein are provided on an “as is” and “as available” basis, without warranties of any kind, either express or implied. Zeath Law makes no representations or warranties regarding the accuracy, completeness, currency, or suitability of the information contained on this website for any purpose.

5. Limitation of Liability

To the fullest extent permitted by law, Zeath Law, its partners, associates, employees, and agents shall not be liable for any damages, claims, liabilities, costs, or obligations of any kind, whether direct, indirect, incidental, consequential, special, or exemplary, arising from or in connection with your use of this website, the information contained herein, or any SMS or electronic communications sent by the Firm.

6. External Links

This website may contain links to third-party websites or resources. Zeath Law does not endorse, guarantee, or assume responsibility for the content, accuracy, or availability of any external websites or resources linked to or referenced from this website.

7. Amendments

Zeath Law reserves the right to modify or amend these Terms of Use at any time without notice. Your continued use of this website following any such changes constitutes your acceptance of the revised Terms.

8. Governing Law

These Terms of Use shall be governed by and construed in accordance with the laws of the Province of Ontario and the laws of Canada applicable therein. Any disputes arising from or relating to these Terms or your use of this website shall be resolved exclusively in the courts of the Province of Ontario.

9. Contact Information
